

‘THE LIVING MATRIX AND TRAUMA ENERGETICS’ WITH DR. JAMES OSCHMAN * MAY 28TH - 29TH 2007 *

This workshop is open to all therapists

The living matrix is the material substrate of the organs, tissues, cells, and subcellular elements in the human body. It is the living matrix, not the nervous system, that becomes traumatized and that houses traumatic memories. The matrix is also the place where subliminal information is recorded and processed, i.e. the location of the subconscious and the real source of intuition. This workshop will include practical exercises that focus on appreciating, strengthening and trusting the intuitive processes that can enable a therapist to resolve complex issues not readily accessible via logical thought processes. This work is invaluable for all schools of therapy.

DR. OSCHMAN WILL:

- introduce you to exciting research and experiential methods leading to a picture of human structure and function that is congruent with a broad range of hands-on, movement and energetic therapies
- introduce you to the living matrix, the evolving field of “matrix psychology” and how trauma is stored in the body
- help you to discover powerful new ways of envisioning your work & explaining it
- explore the science behind the promising new field of energy psychology.

TUTOR: James Oschman is a biologist, physicist, researcher and world authority on energy and complementary medicine. He is author of the ground-breaking books “Energy Medicine: The Scientific Basis” and “Energy Medicine in Therapeutics and Human Performance”. He is the originator of the “living matrix” concept.
